LANSING (UPI) — A department of Conservation official has described a Federal proposal to swap Fort Custer for state lands to be turned into military training areas as "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

But Deputy Director Charles T. Harris told a meeting of the state Conservation Commission Thursday the department would make an "exhaustive study" to see if it could come up with lands to exchange for the federal property.

U.S. Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., announced in Washington last Friday the Defense Department was willing to release the 7,500 acres of land in Kalamazoo and Calhoun counties for use as a new state park.

But Todd, from Kalamazoo, said the department would want to acquire other suitable land in return for the expanded troop training required by stepped-up military action in South Vietnam.

The Pentagon declared the Fort Custer area surplus last January and the state has been pressing for a chance to turn it into a much-needed state park.

State Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan said the plan had "hardly a chance" of being worked out because of a number of obstacles.

"The first of these, of course," he said, "is that all of the game and recreation areas we have in Southern Michigan are being used to the hilt by the public right now."

Harris told the commission even if it is impossible for the state to acquire the Fort Custer lands now for park use, "we haven't lost everything."

"If (Fort Custer) is passed on to the National Guard now, it will still remain in public ownership," he said. "And if the time comes when it is no longer needed for military training, we may have another chance to acquire it."

"But right now, it doesn't look as though there is much we can do."

New Plans Up On Districting

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Gov. Wilbur Brucker Thursday said he and other GOP members of the Michigan Reapportionment Committee will attend a meeting of the group today in Lansing even though it has been cancelled.

Secretary of State James Hare had originally called the meeting of the committee for today after the State Supreme Court gave the group 60 days to come up with a new plan.

Democratic members of the group however asked for additional time saying they could not get together on such short notice.

Hare then reset the meeting for Nov. 12.

"It's no harder for them to assemble than for Republicans," said Brucker. "We know where Hare's office is and that's all that's necessary to be there," he added.

The former governor said the GOP has several new plans to submit to the committee, and the Democrats are simply stalling for more time.

Full And Total Employment Is Johnson's Goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation moved a step closer to full employment in October — but not close enough, according to President Johnson.

The Labor Department announced Thursday that the unemployment rate fell to 4.3 per cent last month — the lowest it has been since August, 1957.

The President, in a statement issued from his Texas ranch, said that he was "very pleased" with the development, but that "our goal remains full employment."

While economists agree that some unemployment is necessary to keep the economy from freezing up, they don't all see eye to eye about how much this is.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers talks about 3 per cent unemployment as "full employment."

The council has also set a 4 per cent jobless rate as its "interim goal." Now, with the country approaching that figure, some people are worried that bottlenecks could occur in some industries and that this could drive up prices.

Johnson tipped his hat to this school of thought when he said the country must pursue "the private and public policies that will maintain non-inflationary prosperity."

Meantime, the man who keeps track of the unemployment figures, Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said he "wouldn't be satisfied" with 4 per cent.

Ross agreed that the lower the rate goes, the greater the danger of inflation and the more apparent it becomes that there are untrained people who are hard to employ. But compared to other industrial countries, the United States still has a "relatively loose" labor market, Ross said.

He said the country should "keep on going" to 4 per cent and below.

The October jobless rate of 4.3 per cent was only one-tenth of one per cent lower than September, a decline that Ross dismissed as "not terribly basic." But it was down nearly a full point from the October, 1964 rate of 5.2 per cent, a drop he called "very significant."

He asserted that the number of non-whites employed as skilled craftsmen is "disproportionately low."

"We have not seen the integration of minority group members at all levels of skill in many industries. Conditions existing today reflect a historical pattern of inequity and the task which remains is to translate equality in law to equality in fact," Gordin declared.

He also said there are not enough Negro youths applying for work at the apprentice and journeyman level.

Soldier Returns From Red China, Glad To Be Back

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Morris R. Wills, one of 21 American service men who elected to stay in Communist China after the Korean War, returned to his native soil Thursday with a Chinese wife and a 15-month old daughter.

"I'm glad to be back," said the former soldier, 32, from Fort Ann, N.Y. But he parried most questions of newsmen by saying he planned to write about his experiences in China.

To most questions he replied, "I'll save what I know for my own use."

Wills said he worked as a translator and teacher while in China. He said his Chinese was "more than fluent."

Trade Unions Urged To Drop Negro Barriers

LANSING (UPI) — The Executive Director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission Thursday called for trade unions to drop all barriers to union membership for Negroes.

Burton I. Gordin, said action must be taken "now while the need for skilled labor in the construction industries is great."

"If we can't do the job now, I don't know when we will," he added.

Gordin made his plea for more jobs for Negroes in the trade areas before the fourth annual Michigan Apprenticeship Conference.

"What is required is a joint commitment from employers and skilled trade unions to overcome inequalities based on religion, race, color or national origin and an intensive program of affirmative action sustained on a high-priority basis," he said.

He asserted that the number of non-whites employed as skilled craftsmen is "disproportionately low."

Youth Damages John Birch Sign, Essay Is Penalty

GRAND HAVEN (UPI) — A young man was made to pay Thursday for his feelings against the John Birch Society.

Craig Hardy, 18, was given a month to write a 300-word essay on the "rights of minority groups" because he tried to chop down a sign which urged the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The sign had been placed along U.S. 31 between Grand Haven and Muskegon by the John Birch Society. Similar signs have been placed around the country.

Municipal Judge Jacob Ponstein gave Hardy the option of writing the essay or facing a five-day jail term.

Hardy had been charged with malicious destruction of property after trying to cut down the sign.

Ponstein said he would pass the same kind of sentence "no matter what kind of minority was involved."

FRANCE'S PRESIDENT, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, tells the nation over television and radio from Paris that he is convinced he must continue to serve and therefore will run for a new seven-year term in the Dec. 5 election. DeGaulle will be 75 this month. (AP Wirephoto)

Lofty Campaign Promised For Dec. 5 Election

PARIS (UPI) — The French presidential race officially opened today and Charles de Gaulle was the odds-on favorite to succeed himself for another seven-year term. The election will be held a month from today.

De Gaulle's aides let it be known that he has no intention of carrying out an American-type campaign against previously announced candidates.

No Whistle-Stop
In keeping with his character, De Gaulle, 74, will campaign "on the very loftiest level."

Aides explained that this meant that De Gaulle is not likely to do any active campaigning at all, aside from one or two radio-television broadcasts to the nation. There will be no "whistle-stop" tours.

De Gaulle will leave it to the other candidates to do the verbal brawling while he remains aloof and Olympian above the political free-for-all. He hopes thus to create the image of a man not running for a political party, but as a candidate of the entire nation.

The President set the tone for his low-key campaign Thursday night when he broke months of suspense and announced that he would run.

"I Am The State"
"I feel I must hold myself ready to continue my task, in full awareness of the effort it involves, but at the same time convinced it is the best way to serve France," he said in a broadcast address from the Grand Ballroom of the Elysee Palace.

He told the French people that the election would give voters the chance "to prove your regard for and your confidence in myself."

De Gaulle painted a grim picture of what could happen to France if he is not re-elected a return to political squabbling, confusion and chaos "even more disastrous than what France knew in former times."

Headline writers for Paris newspapers had a field day in reporting De Gaulle's decision.

"De Gaulle: Me or nothing," read the headline in Combat, a morning newspaper. Humanite, the Communist newspaper, headlined: "De Gaulle: The best, that's me."

Le Figaro was more conservative. It headlined its report: "De Gaulle: Tell me 'yes' Dec. 5."

Order Sets Up Department Of State Highways
LANSING (UPI) — Acting Gov. William G. Milliken today signed an executive order creating the Department of State Highways under the 1965 Executive Reorganization Act.

The new department, which will go into operation today, is the tenth to be established by Milliken of the 19 principal departments created under the act.

The new department will be headed by the four-man Michigan Highway Commission and will continue under the direction of Howard E. Hill, director of state highways.

The department will function as its predecessor, the State Highway Department, and will also absorb the State Bridge Commission.

Northwest Gets Heavy Rainfall 5 Days Running
By United Press International
Heavy rain fell today in the Pacific northwest and on the Southern Plains.

For the lower Columbia River Valley, it was the fifth consecutive day of rain. More than a half inch fell in six hours during the night. Parts of western Oregon measured 2 inches of rain since Wednesday.

Rain also spread across the Southern Plains from Arkansas and eastern Oklahoma to the west Gulf Coast. College Station, Tex., has recorded 5 1/2 inches of rain since Wednesday.

Dry conditions prevailed elsewhere in the nation.

Court May Spare Life Of Jack Ruby

DALLAS (UPI) — Jack Ruby, condemned to death for slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President Kennedy, should be kept alive, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Thursday. He said he was willing to recommend the death sentence be commuted to life.

If he got a commutation, Ruby would be eligible for parole with 15 years' prison time credit, Wade said.

Ruby shot and killed Oswald as millions watched on national television Nov. 24, 1963. He was convicted of murder March 14, 1964 and sentenced to death. He has been in the Dallas County Jail since while his case was on appeal.

Sentence "Credit"
Wade said if Ruby were an exemplary convict, he could get 15 years' credit in eight or nine years actually spent in prison.

But Ruby's lawyers do not want a commutation. They have the case in the Texas

Court of Criminal Appeals and are holding out for a maximum five-year sentence for murder without malice.

Wade said Thursday at a news conference that there were several reasons he has changed his mind about wanting Ruby electrocuted.

"One reason is that we have plenty else (cases) to work on," Wade said. "Another reason is that we have spent $75,000 - $100,000 on the case already and Jack Ruby is not worth that much more."

Still Questions
"Not all the questions about the assassination have been answered. Some people are still asking about it and I think it better to have him available."

"Finally, although he is sane, there is no question that Ruby has some neurotic tendencies that can be treated in the penitentiary."

Wade said he did not mean he doubted that Oswald, acting alone, killed President Kennedy, or that Ruby was acting alone.

He said he meant, rather, that people would ask questions about the case, whether there was any basis for them or not, and it would be a good thing if Ruby were alive to answer them.

Reception tonight also was planned to honor Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken, the Republican leaders of the state Senate and House, and more than 80 of Gov. George Romney's administrative appointees.

More than 200 delegates from nearly 40 Michigan colleges and universities were scheduled to meet Saturday at Michigan State University.

"Our program will be directed toward helping college Republican leaders develop effective party clubs on their campuses," said Charles Tyson of Grand Rapids, college conference director.

County GOP leaders were to hold their leadership training conference today and Saturday.

Both groups were to hear speeches from Milliken, GOP State Chairman Ely Peterson, and William D. Johnson, assistant to Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Building Volume Gaining In City

Commercial and residential building in Escanaba is experiencing an upswing as the season advances, indicating a healthy condition of the local economy as more funds are invested in new construction and remodeling.

"This will be good news that the people will want to read," said City Assessor Charles Schmidt. "There were permits granted this month for five homes and there are 27 homes under construction right now."

The volume of dwelling construction is augmented by a number of commercial and industrial building projects in the community.

Among the recent building permits approved by the city was for construction of a warehouse for Charles J. Polowski at 301 N. 25th St. The building will be 60 feet wide and 90 feet long. Polowski is proprietor of Seaway Distributing Co.

Many New Homes

The five new homes for which permits were issued are for: Alfred J. Breault, 1120 S. 23rd St.; Gene Horn, 2526 3rd Ave. S.; Irene Gallagher, 1401

16th Ave. S.; Art DeGrand, 1916 10th Ave. S.; and John Manning, 1914 Park Ave.

Besides the 27 new homes now under construction—some just beginning and others nearing completion—there are a number of other building projects under way in the community.

James Pascoe is constructing a 10 apartment building at 8th St. and 3rd Ave. S., an area that he purchased for development after the removal of old St. Anne's School and other structures.

Bero Motors has an addition to its building constructed at the rear; Clairmont Transfer Co. this year built a large loading dock; Capital Business Services completed a building that is housing offices of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Industrial Progress.

Sav-Mor IGA has doubled its store area to 6,000 square feet. The new addition is 30 by 165 feet and besides the additional space there is new shelving, fixtures, lighting and other improvements.

Central Methodist Church has under construction a new church edifice, educational facility and meeting rooms at its location in the 200 block, S. 23rd St.

First Methodist Church at S. 6th St. and 2nd Ave. S. is constructing an addition (Sawyer Hall) that will house meeting and religious instruction rooms.

A major expansion of its garage at 501 Stephenson Ave., is under way by Coyne Chevrolet. The new structure is 70 feet wide and 132 feet long and will house a new service facility and provide larger, more modern showroom and parts departments.

Service Stations

The construction of some and the rebuilding of other service stations in the city is another factor in the growth of building volume.

The Ellingsen-MacLean Oil Co. at 1301 Ludington St. is rebuilding its service station; and other service station building jobs are the Simmons Service Station at 2301 Ludington St. and the Theisen Clemens station at Ludington and 23rd Sts.

There is in prospect additional development of housing in Escanaba, and to this end the City Council has approved a Planning Commission recommendation to rezone an area west of S. 23rd St. and north of 8th Ave. The area has been rezoned from Class A residential to Class C, which will permit the construction of apartment buildings and other multiple dwellings.

On the industrial side was the completion by the Birds Eye Veneer Co. of an addition to warehouse foreign veneers and to house new veneer dryers. The building is 100 feet wide by 200 feet long.

The 27½-ton bell of the Cologne Cathedral was cast from the metal of cannon captured from the French in 1870.

Five-Year Road Plans Revealed

Highway construction projects in eight counties of the Upper Peninsula at a total cost of $14,229,000 are scheduled during the five-year period beginning July 1, 1967, the State Highway Department reports.

Directly affecting this area are proposed improvements to U. S. 2 east of Rapid River, to reconstruct existing rough and narrow pavement; and improvements to M 35 in Marquette County.

The schedule is part of a road-building program that will boost Michigan's total construction to $2,750 billion for the 15-year period ending by 1972.

The four-man State Highway Commission approved the 1967-72 program recommended to meet increasing needs throughout the state.

The Commission has endorsed a revision of state laws to increase motor fuel taxes by one cent per gallon and hike vehicle weight taxes which still remain at 1932 levels.

The revision would increase the share reverted to cities and villages for construction and maintenance of local streets and roads by $22.7 annually.

A total of $78 million would be raised by the proposed increase, yielding $23.3 million more annually for counties and $32.6 million more for the state.

The Upper Peninsula projects by counties:

Chippewa—1.0 mi. reconstruction from M 129 to Adams St. in Sault Ste. Marie, M 129—7.0 mi. reconstruction from 5.1 mi. north of M 48 to the north.

Delta—U. S. 2—9.8 mi. reconstruction from 4 mi. east of Rapid River to the east.

Gogebic—U. S. 2—2.5 mi. of widening, resurfacing and improvement in the vicinity of Putnam, Harrison and M 28 in Wakefield.

Houghton—M 26—3.5 mi. of reconstruction; 0.3 mi. from the county line northeast and 3.2 mi. from U. S. 41 to Dollar Bay; U. S. 41—0.6 mi. resurfacing in Hancock.

Iron—U. S. 141—16.2 mi. of reconstruction and relocation from U. S. 2 north.

Keeweenaw—M 26—2.8 mi. of reconstruction and relocation from U. S. 41 to Eagle River and bridge structures over Eagle Creek and Eagle River.

Marquette—M 35—6.5 mi. of reconstruction and relocation from Little Lake to Gwinn.

Ontonagon—U. S. 45—12.8 mi. of reconstruction from M 26 to Ontonagon.

20 Cent Milk Price Cut For U.P. Is Fought

DETROIT (UPI)—The Michigan Milk Producers Assn. has asked Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to take any necessary emergency action to prevent a drop in milk prices paid to Upper Peninsula farmers next month.

The appeal was made by MMPA General Manager Jack A. Barnes in a telegram to Freeman.

The price of milk paid to farmers in the Upper Peninsula is regulated by federal milk marketing orders. The orders specify a 20 cents per hundred-weight price reduction effective Dec. 1.

Similar price adjustments are called for in milk marketing orders in effect for Chicago and 11 other Midwestern milk markets outside Michigan. They are seasonal adjustments.

Representatives of dairy farmers serving the non-Upper Peninsula markets and tied directly to Chicago prices were granted an emergency hearing Thursday. The hearing was to determine whether market order provisions should be suspended, thus preventing the drop in prices next month.

"Would Be Same" In his telegram, Barnes said prices in the Upper Peninsula for December should be about the same as those now in effect.

"Emergency action is imperative, should you act in the matter."

ter of Chicago and 11 other Midwestern orders to prevent a lowering of prices in those markets," Barnes said.

Unless Freeman acts, Barnes said, Upper Peninsula farmers would have imposed on them "an economic hardship."

Federal orders do not call for a drop in December prices in Southern Michigan and the Northern portion of the Lower Peninsula. Barnes said Upper Peninsula dairy farmers were more closely related to Chicago prices than to pricing in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Wrong Time

Delta County Extension director Joseph L. Heirman said that a 20 cent reduction in the price of milk to U. P. farmers would be a serious shortening of their income.

"It doesn't make much sense from the production view of profits," said Heirman "to put the price of milk at the time of year when the cows are going into the barn and can't forage and have to be fed all their food needs."

Heirman said that the marginal profits in the milk business were causing farmers to quit the business. Michigan Milk Producers Association, he said, called him today about providing more shippers (dairy farmers) for their U. P. milk pickup routes to replace farm losses.

Heirman explained that it is not economical to make random pickups of farm milk as it cost 35 to 40 cents a mile to operate a tank truck. Concentration of dairy farming serves efficiency.

Needs Stimulation

Efforts of Midwest dairy farmers to increase milk prices ran into opposition at U. S. Agriculture Department hearings in Chicago this week. David A. Clark, Jr., a University of California economist, suggested that a decrease in dairy prices is needed to bring production and consumption into a more reasonable balance. Producers proposed to eliminate the supply-demand factor in preparing milk marketing orders for the Class 1 (bottled) milk. The result would be an increase in prices paid farmers in 12 Midwest districts. The boost would be about 24 cents a hundred-weight.

"By reviewing use of eligible pool milk supplies in these markets," said Clark "I cannot conclude that the answer to the present situation is to raise prices. Rather, a drastic price decrease to set in motion the forces that will bring production and consumption to a more reasonable balance are needed."

Capt. Ray Meyers will be in charge of firemen training. Capt. Clarence DeMarse in charge of rescue squad training. Ivan Sundquist and Wes Palmgren will audit the books, and the department's new fireman is Herb Peterson.

The new officers will take over at the next meeting to be held Nov. 18.

Escanaba Woman Hurt In Crash

Jane E. Neumann, 40, of 2851 Lake Shore Dr., was reported suffering from a fractured collar bone today at St. Francis Hospital after being injured when her car rolled over near Ford River.

Hospital officials said her condition was "good."

State Police of the Gladstone Post said Mrs. Neumann's car left M-35 and rolled over about one tenth of a mile south of Co. Rd. A-11. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital by ambulance about 2:30 a.m.

To Dismiss Pupils:

Schools Planning Education Week

The Escanaba Area Public School system will plan an Open House Monday night, over the country next week in observing American Education Week.

Theme of the observance is "Invest in Learning."

Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett said the goal of the Area system is "to get parents into the schools" to discover what their children are doing. He said parent-teacher conferences at all elementary schools are scheduled and the Junior High school is planning an Open House Monday night. City elementary pupils in grades kindergarten through six will be dismissed from classes Monday and Tuesday to allow teachers to meet with parents. Township school students will be dismissed for parent-teacher conferences Thursday and Friday.

Sixth grade students in the city who attend classes at the Junior High school will be dismissed Thursday and Friday for conferences.

The Open House program at the Junior High will begin at 7:30 p. m. Monday with Roy Hivila, principal, keynoting a general welcome in William W. Oliver auditorium. David Laakso, assistant band director for the area schools, will feature several junior high students in a demonstration lesson.

Classrooms will be open following the program and teachers have planned a variety of demonstrations.

Besides the parent-teacher conferences, Barrett said parents with children attending city elementary schools will be urged to visit classrooms Thursday. Township schools' visitation day is scheduled Tuesday.

American Education Week began in 1921 when the American Legion, concerned over poor educational preparation of draftees for World War I, joined with the American Education Association in a promotion to draw attention the nation's school systems.

In 1922, the U. S. Office of Education became a co-sponsoring organization and in 1939 the National Congress of Parents and Teachers joined forces.

The observance always falls during the week of Nov. 11, which formerly was Armistice Day and now is Veterans Day in the United States.

Awards Dinner Honors Delta's Champ Farmers

Delta County Agricultural Booster Association honored the top Delta County farmers of the year at its annual awards banquet Thursday night at Marco's.

Guy W. Knutson was a gay toastmaster at a dinner program which merged city and county interests at economic development and which made trophy awards for 1965 production records to:

Henry Mroczkowski, Danforth, beans; Reinhold Bittner, Route 1, Bark River, a director of the Bay de Noc Beef Producers Association, beef.

Mel Racicot, Schaffer, dairying; Frank Falkies, Cornell, potatoes; Mel Taylor, Schaffer, eggs; William Mosier, Rapid River, Christmas trees.

Everett Wills, Rapid River, soil conservation; Clayton Ford, Cornell, agricultural leadership.

4-H Entertains

George Bathke and Richard Marenger were co-chairmen of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee which joined with the Boosters Association of Escanaba Area businessmen in sponsoring the awards banquet, which was attended by more than 200 persons from Escanaba and Gladstone and the county.

Mrs. Reginald Piron, Wells.

Walter L. Olson, Gladstone, presented the beef award to Reinhold Bittner, whose wife accepted it for him. A farmer and woods worker, he has been a leader in the Bay de Noc Beef Producers Association which created the new livestock sales yard at Rapid River this year.

Forrest Henslee presented the dairy award to Mel Racicot for the second year. He has a herd of 42 milk cows which averaged production of 12,707 pounds of milk and 489 pounds of butterfat in the past year. "The family farm should produce 300,000 pounds of milk a year to be profitable," said Henslee "and Mel Racicot is producing 500,000 pounds."

Harry Buchman, Rapid River, presented the pea production award to Vernon Wick, Cornell, who grew 45 acres to produce an average of 4,405 pounds of shelled peas per acre for a return of $58.22 an acre.

Potatoes, Eggs Jean Worth presented the potato production award to Frank Falkies, Cornell, for leadership in production of high quality Burbank potatoes, with irrigation, use of disease-free seed, spraying, proper storage and good grading for packaging potatoes for the market.

Eugene Graves presented the poultry award to Mel Taylor, Schaffer poultryman, who is the largest egg producer in Delta County and the Upper Peninsula. Taylor thanked the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and Manager Walter Lewke for helping him arrange for sale of 1,600 dozens of eggs a week to K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Lloyd Lindstrom presented the soil conservation award to Everett Wills of Rapid River, who started dairy farming in 1948 and has a herd of 35 Guernseys on his 160 acre farm. He also leases 70 acres, has been a Soil Conservation District cooperator since 1952 and has two miles of surface ditching on his farm.

Plan Scholarship Paul Kregar presented the Christmas tree award to William Mosier of Rapid River, who pioneered yule tree culture in this area with the shaping of native spruce and balsam firs, augments his natural stands with planting of red and scotch pines. He is retiring and turning the tree plantations and business over to his son.

John L. Greene presented the leadership award to Clayton Ford of Cornell, a successful farmer who has devoted many years of public service to the area. He was one of the organizers of the Farm Bureau in the U. P. 10 years ago, has been a Cornell Township officer, charter member of the Cornell Lions Club, serves on the Delta County Building Authority and is a trustee of Bay de Noc Community College.

Polk Directory Workers Begin Canvass Monday

The canvassers, all local people, will carry identification cards. They will list names, addresses, place of employment of the head of the household, and the number of children in the family.

Seaway Traffic Hits New High

DETROIT (UPI)—Traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway reached a new high of 5,490,000 tons for the month of October, the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. announced.

Downbound October shipments of bulk cargo, primarily grain, were approximately 2,500,000 tons, up 300,000 tons from October 1964.

However, the seaway corporation said the movement of Canadian wheat to the Soviet Union was slower than anticipated. "Therefore, the remainder of the season is expected to show unusually heavy movements of downbound bulk cargoes as the wheat is shipped at a quicker pace," a spokesman at the Seaway office here said.

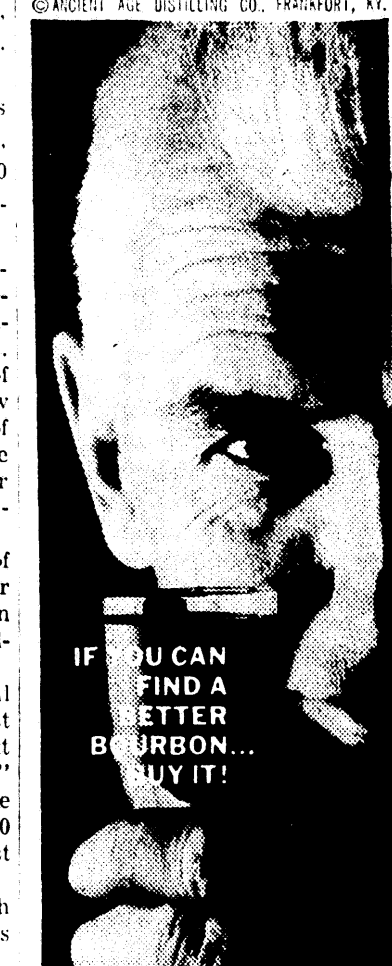

The official closing date of the Seaway is Dec. 3. After that date, it will remain open on a day-to-day basis depending on whether conditions.

The corporation said general cargo presented the brightest spot in the generally excellent traffic picture of the seaway. Last month 707,000 tons were shipped compared with 574,000 during the same month last year.

For the entire season through the end of October 4,700,000 tons of general cargo were recorded. "Not only is general cargo way ahead of the 3,100,000 ton figure for the same period of last year, but it has already surpassed the entire total of the 1964 season of 3,700,000 tons," the spokesman said.

War Tide Turns

The tide of the war in South Viet Nam has turned. Our military leaders are not talking boastfully about it, but it is evident in their new optimism and guarded good feeling that they believe they have stopped the Viet Cong.

Our military leaders are very cautious about giving us folks back home any feeling that the war is won or anything like it, for fear that home front support will waver, or that we'll think there's not need for a major continuing effort to help Saigon.

And history bears them out in this. Even if the Viet Cong were to ease up their attacks and Hanoi could be brought to a conference table to negotiate an end of the war, there is every reason to believe that there would be need for a continuing war effort of large size in South Viet Nam until a peace could be spiced down.

General Harold K. Johnson, our Army chief of staff, cites that 9,000 American soldiers died in Korea in the two years after armistice negotiations were started and before a cease fire was effected. In that period of negotiations the Communist North Koreans and the United States negotiators met 575 times to talk truce and while they were at it a million Americans were drafted, $10 billion was spent on the war and nearly as many U.S. servicemen were wounded as had been wounded before the negotiations started.

This is the size of the problem of making peace with Communist aggression, in this case with North Viet Nam playing the stooge, to a degree, for Red China, with an assist from Communist Russia.

General Maxwell D. Taylor, retired, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who served as our ambassador to Saigon last year, says that the United States has recaptured the initiative there and is likely to keep it. This situation could result in an end of the war eventually with no formal truce talks. The Viet Cong, who are so devilishly clever at infiltration, would try some in reverse and disappear and the war would be over, until the Commies decided to start another.

Our buildup of troops and materiel in Viet Nam continues. There are now more than 118,000 American troops in Viet Nam and the force is expected to top 198,000 before 1966, with more to come.

Victory is becoming more and more expensive in both men and armaments for the Viet Cong. They're still willing to fight hard, as they did at Plei Me recently, but our increasing commitment must convince them eventually that we're not going home and that they can't accept student demonstrations as a valid indication of American intention in the war.

The Reds seem to be preparing for a long war and so do we, but with differing intentions: they because they can't win quickly and we because we regard the confrontation as with world communist aggression and solvable only by our display of superior might and absolute determination to see it through.

State Income Taxes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — At a recent meeting here, an organization of public officials from all levels of government voted 14 to 4 to recommend that states now without their own income tax give "careful consideration" to adopting one.

The group was the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. The four dissenters included just one governor, Democrat John Dempsey of Connecticut.

Even though the approved recommendation was watered down from an original which called for "favorable" rather than "careful" consideration, the vote was a significant move in the states' struggle to meet rising revenue needs.

Last year at about this time, Washington seemed fairly excited over the proposal of economist Walter Heller, then presidential economic adviser, to turn back to the states a proportion of federal tax collections. It got nowhere.

The commission's new recommendation revives an older idea—that the federal government and the several states should more fully share the tax base rather than U.S. collections.

The commission thinks this idea needs a real prod. So, this time without dissent, it voted also to recommend U.S. tax law amendments which would allow taxpayers to take 40 per cent of their state and local income tax payments as a credit against their federal income tax liability.

Under existing state-local income tax laws, it is figured that this optional credit plan might cost the federal government an added $700 million in fiscal 1967.

If the prod became a reality and all states thereupon enacted adequate-yield income levies, it is estimated that the loss to the federal treasury would come to around $42 billion in fiscal 1968. This assumes that by then the states would be collecting $13 billion in annual personal income taxes instead of an estimated $4.8 billion if present policy continues.

Today a third of the 50 states have no such tax, and the list without the levy includes some of the nation's biggest and wealthiest—Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Another third of the states, while using an income tax, apply it at very low effective rates.

The federal government gets half its revenue from this source. By contrast, it accounts for just 15 per cent of state revenues and 8 per cent of combined state and local revenues. These levies probably come from about 20 million taxpayers in areas which exclude some of the country's highest income sections.

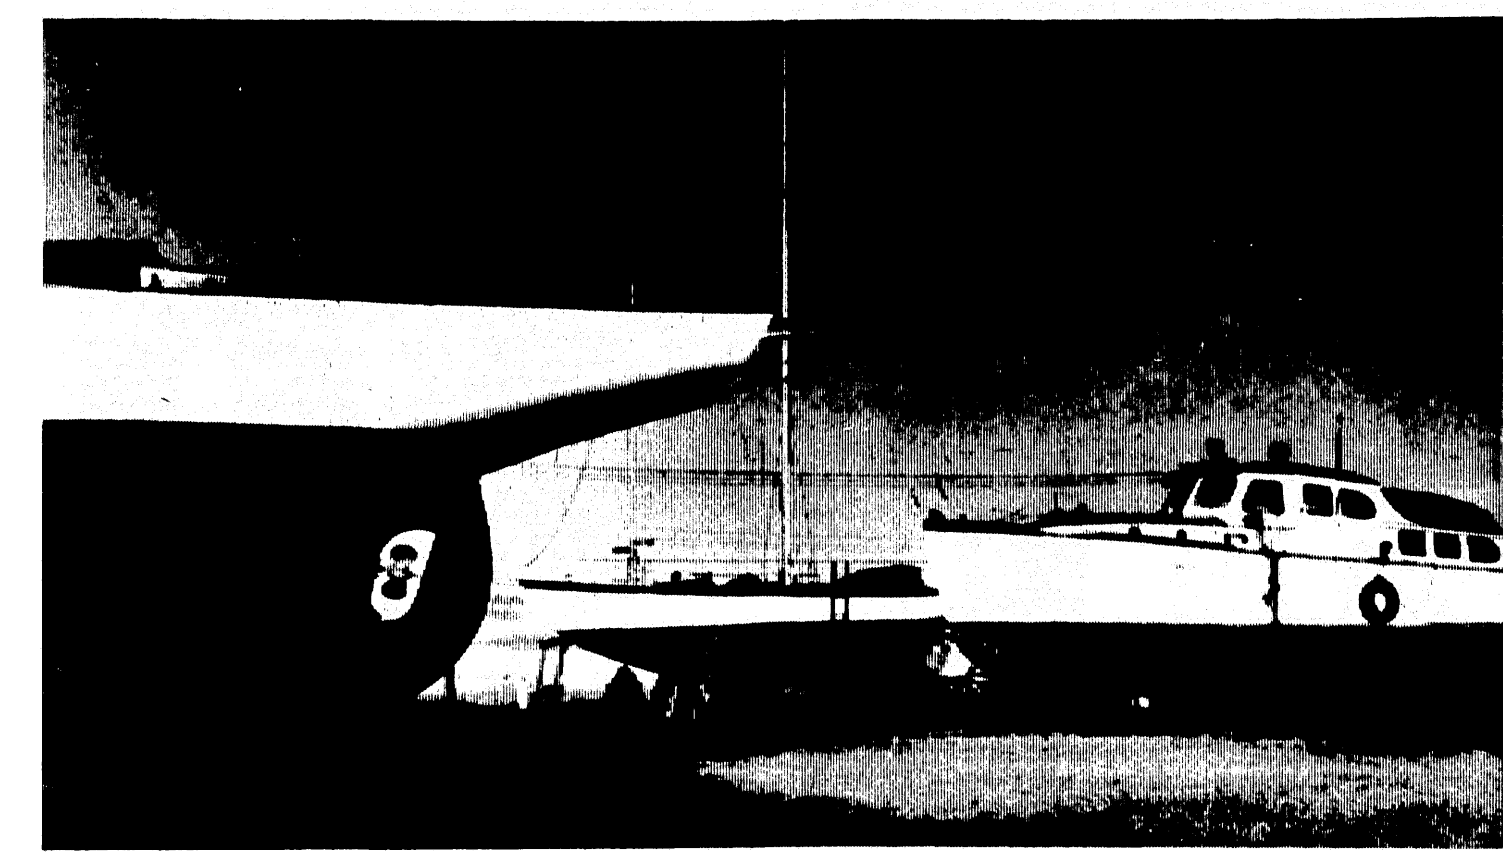

The extremely vocal enemies of the income tax very likely would say "well and good." But powerful arguments are being advanced for wider use of individual income taxes at the state level.

The big point is that this levy is the only one with any real growth potential, an element the states badly appear to need in their future tax plans.

State and local spending is not only rising faster than federal spending but is outstripping the gains in the nation's gross national product. The 135 per cent postwar hike in GNP has been over-matched in the same period by a 300 per cent increase in state-local general government outlays.

Members of the advisory intergovernmental group can foresee no letup in this disproportionate rise. Hence the overwhelming conclusion that many states will not long be able to continue their strained reliance upon property and sales taxes. There is wide belief these levies will have little future usefulness in meeting the expected upsurge of state-local expenditures.

It is argued, therefore, that the barnacle-encrusted debate in some states over the relative merits of sales vs. income taxes is now beside the point, that many states are in fact living on borrowed fiscal time and will desperately need every revenue source they can find in order to survive financially in the burdensome years ahead.

Millions For U.P. Harbors

WASHINGTON — The Army Corps of Engineers will spend nearly $14 million on upper Michigan harbors in the next fiscal year, Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland reports.

The Corps of Engineers has received appropriations from Congress for operation and improvement of 14 Great Lakes harbors in the 11th District.

These appropriations range from $5,000 for operation and maintenance of Ontonagon Harbor to $10 million for the new Poe Lock at Sault Ste. Marie.

Nearly $3 million has been authorized for operation and maintenance of the Sault Locks in 1966; Congress approved spending $600,000 for rehabilitation of the Pine River Channel at Charlevoix, and $20,000 for rehabilitation of the Marquette Harbor.

The Corps has been authorized to spend up to $27,000 for studies of flood control needs on the Indian and Manistique Rivers near Manistique. Other appropriations for operation and maintenance of harbors include: Big Bay, $10,000; Black River Harbor, $45,000; Keweenaw Waterway $151,000; Lac LaBelle Harbor, $15,000; Little Lake Harbor, $50,000; Manistique Harbor $75,000 (plus $15,000 for studies).

Small Business Workshop On Loans Planned

The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress announces a one-day free workshop open to all prospective and new small business owners in the U.P.

The workshop will be conducted in the Sault Savings Bank, Sault Ste. Marie, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9 by the Small Business Administration, Detroit.

Speakers will be Russell Eavey and Willis Swanton, SBA management training specialists, and Harold Hand, SBA regional business and industry specialist.

Hand, with members of U.P. C A P, recently completed a week-long series of Small Business Development Center meetings throughout the U.P. to re-examine and strengthen SBD loan procedures.

The big point is that this levy is the only one with any real growth potential, an element the states badly appear to need in their future tax plans.

State and local spending is not only rising faster than federal spending but is outstripping the gains in the nation's gross national product. The 135 per cent postwar hike in GNP has been over-matched in the same period by a 300 per cent increase in state-local general government outlays.

Heading meat inspection will be Dr. Ralph E. Beebe. He joined the department in 1955 after having been a private veterinarian practitioner in the Traverse City area for 16 years.

Boatmen Close Banner Season

By CLINT DUNATHAN

After a summer of grousing about the bad weather that seemed to afflict most weekends, Bay de Noc pleasure boat owners now concede that the season really wasn't so bad after all.

One of the reasons was the many pleasurable activities sponsored for its members and the public by the Escanaba Yacht Club. Recalling the magic of Venetian Night, for example, can offset the memory of storm bound weekends.

"It was really a banner season in some ways," said Walter Lewke, commodore of the EYC. "Many visiting boatmen expressed appreciation for the use of the fine facilities we have here."

Lewke, who is also manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, declared at the time of his election to head the Yacht Club that he was a "compromise candidate."

"There were the sail boat people and the power boat people in the Yacht Club and I was chosen because I don't have a boat," Lewke smiled.

Season Highlight

The Venetian Night, sponsored by the Yacht Club with the cooperation of the city, was held in mid-August after a one-night postponement because of bad weather, of course. But the next night's success thrilled thousands of spectators who gathered in Ludington Park to hear the City Band and later to watch the lighted boats, some with musicians aboard, parade in the harbor.

Earl Owen and Victor Nelson were co-chairmen of the Venetian Night. Owen said that it has been suggested next year that in the evening program some recognition be accorded by the Yacht Club "to the memory of those who have done so much for boating here."

Mentioned for such recognition were the late Dr. Roy Banks, O. V. Thatcher and John J. Mitchell.

There was a busy season of racing for seagull class and other boats said Francis Boyce, who is hopeful that next season will be even better.

Sailing Events

After the usual complaints about the weather (some sailing races had the competition blown right out of them because only two skippers dared take their craft out) Boyce reviewed the events that had been supervised by Victor Nelson, chairman of the EYC racing committee. All of the races were patrolled by James Silver, officer in charge of the Escanaba Coast Guard Light Station.

There are 13 seagull class boats here and three series of races were held. Most of the sailing was on weekends. Shakedown race was June 27 with Bill and Sue Boyce winning by 2 seconds over Bob Worrall and Paul Nelson.

The first races in the Gust Asp trophy series were held on July 5 and the series closed with Worrall and Paul Nelson sailing Bill Stewart's boat to a high point rating on July 18.

Second series seagull class racing champions for the Bay de Noc trophy found only two boats out for the opener on Aug. 8 because of bad weather. Overall winners at the end of the series were Bill and Sue Boyce.

Membership Grows

There were nine boats entered in the open handicap for the John Mitchell trophy on Aug. 14 but only six finished, with Mary Sue Boyce a repeat winner.

Mary Sue the next day sailed her way into possession of the John Bissell trophy against seven other skippers in the 21-mile race.

The Menominee to Escanaba race for the Pat Hayes trophy was another event of the season sponsored by the Green Bay Yacht Club, a cruising race from Horseshoe Island to Escanaba during Fair Week. The winner was Ike Stephenson in his 21-foot cruiser. Boyce said he is hopeful the race can be scheduled earlier and thus attract additional boats next season.

In late August Escanaba EYC was represented at Ephraim by Bill Boyce and Bob Worrall in the Hones trophy seagull class championship races. Ephraim won.

Growth of Yacht Club membership here has posed some clubhouse space problems, and Pat Gasman (building committee chairman) and his committee are considering proposals to enlarge the structure.

25 YEARS AGO

I could never live in a Monarchy. I tell you the reason why I could not look at that same old King.

For his whole lifetime I was not that way in the USA. We like our changes here. When we get sick of a face in some high place he goes out on his ear. In USA we do not say Assassinate that ox. We get our say in another way. By the good old ballot box.

50 YEARS AGO

Earl Larson purchased a valuable tract of land recently from the Peter Seiner estate. The property consists of a fractional 80-acre tract situated along the bay shore in the southern part of the city. The land is in great part wooded and is beautifully located. Mr. Larson will reserve a large portion of the land for park purposes.

Probably one of the oldest hunters to go into the woods this fall will be S. S. Garrison of Hastings, Mich., 79 years of age, who leaves the city this morning for a ten day hunting trip. Mr. Garrison came here to visit his daughter, Mrs. Max Kellerman of North Escanaba.

Ann Landers

Ex-Convict Nee's Second Chance

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a husband who wakes his wife up at 2:00 a.m. to tell her to stop snoring? Clem started this a few months ago when he retired from his job. I am NOT retired, however. Clem can sleep late in the morning but I can't.

Last night when Clem woke me up I got real mad. I asked him what in the world he thought he was accomplishing. He said, "Nothing is more annoying than being kept awake by a snorer. The snorer should stay up and keep his victim company."

Isn't this the meanest thing you ever heard of? I do not snore on purpose. If I could stop I would. What can I do? POOPED

Dear Pooped: First see a doctor and learn if he can do anything about your snoring. Sometimes minor surgery will eliminate the problem. If the doctor says it is more complicated in your case, buy a cot and sleep in another part of the house.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a member of America's most persecuted minority, an ex-convict.

Now that I have served my time, I can't get a job. First I was truthful and owned up to my record. The answer was, "We appreciate your honesty, but we can't hire you. It's against company policy."

After several such experiences I wrote "NO" under the question, "Have you ever been convicted of a felony?" Twice the truth came out and I was fired.

How can a person survive if he is unable to earn a living? I am 39 years old, in perfect health and willing to do any kind of legitimate work. I am a bachelor and can work 14 hours a day, six days a week. I will move anywhere.

I keep reading that at least two-thirds of those with records return to jail within 90 days. I'm sure many of them would have preferred to go straight but society would not let them. When a man finds all doors closed he loses his courage and dignity. Please, Ann Landers, I am begging you — help me to be a useful citizen. —WILLING BUT UNEMPLOYABLE

Dear Willing: I am printing your letter and addressing my remarks to employers all over the U.S.A. Where would you be today if nobody gave you a second chance? Put yourself in this man's shoes. I am asking you to give a break to men who have records. Some will fail you, but the ones who come through will have been saved for all time. And such a man can well turn out to be the best employee you could have. In my book it's worth the chance.

Dear Ann Landers: I am going with a gentleman who is separated but not divorced. Kenny and I are together Monday through Thursday. On Friday he moves right in with his estranged wife and children — suitcase and all.

Yesterday I told him to go back to his family full-time or stop sleeping over there. He answered, "I can always get another girl friend but I can never replace my wonderful children."

Why doesn't this dumb jerk realize that one day his "wonderful children" will get married and have lives of their own that don't include him? By that time he will have passed up a chance to make a new life for himself. Should I make Kenny choose between me and his family? — SWEET ADELIN

Dear Adelina: Wake up and smell the coffee, Lady. He has chosen. THEM, I'll bet an old Dewey button if you told Kenny to flake off he'd go back to his family on a full-time basis. If it's marriage you want, forget him. You are a sometime thing.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Questions And Answers

Q—Why are left-handed pitchers called "southpaws"?

A—In the early days of baseball, diamonds were laid out with the pitcher's mound east of home plate. Thus a right-handed pitcher faced north as he commenced his delivery while a left-hander faced south. There were only a few left-handed pitchers, so the nickname "southpaw" was coined.

Provincial Uses Old, New

FRENCH CHARM: The delightful appearance of this three-bedroom French Provincial can be traced back to the early 17th century, when architect Francois Mansart designed a two-slope roof that would permit flat, high-ceilinged rooms on the second floor.

By ANDY LANG

The newest House of the Week, an elegant French Provincial, has a roof design originally created to avoid the payment of high taxes! But the roof's practical advantage of permitting larger, higher-ceilinged second-floor rooms has kept it popular through the centuries, with many variations making their appearance in this country.

Back in the 1600's, in France, two-story houses were taxed at a high rate. In order to get a lower rate for their clients, French architects built many one and a half story houses,

G-8 STATISTICS

Design G-8 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, bath, foyer, rear porch and two-car garage on the first floor; three bedrooms, an unusually large bathroom, dressing room and porch on the second floor. There are 1090 square feet of living area on the first floor, excluding the garage and porches. The second floor has 961 square feet of habitable area, excluding the porches and storage room. Over-all dimensions, including the garage, are 58' 10" by 37' 7".

with resultant cramped upstairs rooms of the garret type. One architect, Francois Mansart, found a loophole in the regulations that enabled his customers to avoid the high tax rate and yet have spacious quarters on the second floor. By keeping the roof eaves just above the first-floor windows, as specified by law, he was able to have his houses classified as one and a half stories. But by redesigning the roof with two slopes, the lower one very steep, he was able to offer much more living space on the upper floor.

Beside the mansard roof, many other exterior details of our house this week are authentic French, among them stones set in the corner brickwork, eyebrow dormers, full-length shutters with panels below the windows, casement sash, chimney pots and plant urns at the front entrance. By locating the garage doors at the side, the garage appears from the front as an additional living area.

On the inside, architect Rudolph A. Matern has intermingled additional French touches with all the modern conveniences American families have come to expect. Typically traditional is the large center foyer, with the living room on one side and the dining room on the other, as well as an entrance vestibule with closet. The foyer ceiling is pierced by a small, round, railed opening through which drops a light fixture from the second-floor ceiling.

A log-burning fireplace is the focal point of the large living room, which has French doors at the rear leading to an enclosed porch. Housewives will appreciate the unusually large amount of living room wall space for effective furniture placement.

The combination kitchen-family room is an open 20' of space, with the demarcation of the rooms being left to a light-and-plant trough and turned poles. Features of the area are the larder, small desk with a post light, and the laundry tucked into the corner. The laundry location allows the homemaker to be "part of the family" while these chores are being done. Cabinets above and at the side of the washer and dryer provide plenty of space to keep all clothes out of sight. Folding partitions hide the entire laundry when not in use.

Just outside the kitchen and close to a rear entrance is a sizable bathroom, including a shower. Another bathroom is on the upper bedroom floor. This one is unusually large, has a tub of mosaic tile and can be entered from the general bedroom area, the rear porch or the master bedroom, with special door arrangements for privacy.

A glance at the floor plan of Design G-8 discloses a truly spacious master bedroom suite. The room itself is 22' long, has a fireplace, a den area and access to the rear porch. A special feature is a long, peninsula tucked into the corner. The like section which contains a laundry location allows the homemaker to be "part of the family" while these chores are

Auto Sales Hit Top In October

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. auto makers, fresh from a record model year, sold more cars in October than any month in history, according to tabulations of Wards Automotive Reports.

The trade publication said retail car sales during October totaled 841,976. The previous record month was last March when 817,180 cars were sold, Ward's said.

Ford Motor Co., second largest in the industry, said it sold more cars in October than in any month in its 62-year history. General Motors, the industry giant, said October was its fourth best month in history.

Chrysler Corp. said it had no records to indicate where October sales ranked compared with other months but joined Ford and GM in reporting a record

October sales level. American Motors Corp., smallest of the four major U.S. producers, said its October sales were down from the same month a year ago but were the firm's highest since last May.

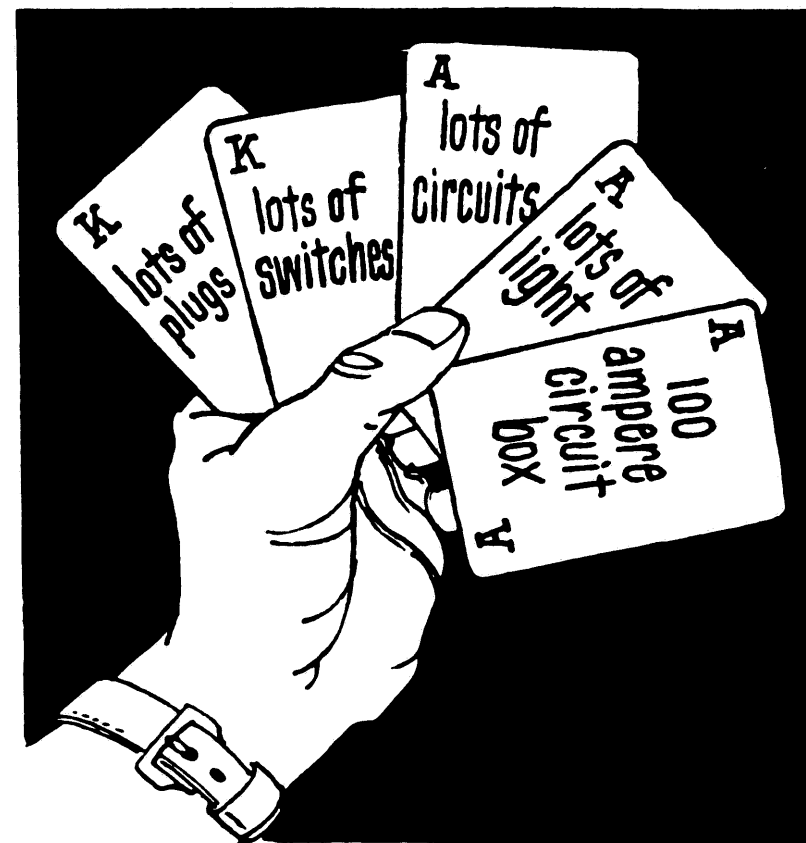

The bullish sales figures came on the heels of record sales and profit reports by GM, Ford and Chrysler for the third quarter and the year's first nine months. American Motors said it would report its fiscal year sales and earnings later this month.

Most industry leaders have predicted that 1966 model year sales will equal or top the record level of the 1965 model year which ended a month ago.

Hints From Heloise

Some Hints On Home Permanents

BY HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: Lots of you gals have been writing me about giving home permanents.

I have used them myself, and here are some of the secrets I have found helpful:

Wash your hair a day or two before, but do NOT use vinegar or the fabulous rinses. Just wash it with plain shampoo, and be SURE that it is rinsed THOROUGHLY.

The secret (which I have learned from cosmetologists) is to wait two days (if your hair has a normal amount of oil, or one day if your hair is oily) before giving your permanent. Brush your hair about 50 strokes each day. This lets YOUR own NATURAL oil get back into and through your hair.

When ready to give your perm, wet your hair thoroughly under your faucet.

Then use your store-bought permanent according to it's special instructions.

Another thing I have found is that if you have some hair you don't want quite as curly, if you will use two or three of those little papers they send you in the box with the permanent, this one section will not be so quickly curled on the end and become kinky. Grab two or three of these papers and put around the curl before you wind it up.

Another thing I learned is that if, after you give this permanent, you will use a stiff hair brush and brush thoroughly each lock of hair before rolling it on your regular rollers, it will not be kinky either.

You will have the prettiest home permanent you have ever had.

***** Heloise

Dear Heloise: As I prepare my 11-month-old daughter's meals, a few pieces of dry cereal on her highchair tray keep her happy, and also give her practice in picking up small objects.

***** Jan

Dear Heloise: I just had to drop you a line to tell you the latest use of your nylon net.

Yesterday my husband bathed our fox terrier dog in the laundry tub. I keep nylon net there to rub the collars of shirts, and when my husband came upstairs, he said "Chico was never so nice and clean. I used that blue and yellow net piece to wash him and to scrub his toenails—they were never so white!"

So, girls — bathe your dog with a "Heloise."

***** Mrs. O. Truesdale

Dear Heloise: After using rubber gloves in hot water, rinse your gloved hands under the cold water tap. The gloves will slip off easily.

***** Mrs. O. MacDougall

Dear Heloise: For people with fireplaces, and who find it hard to clean under the grates with the upright brushes that come with fireplace sets:

Dianne Koehler Becomes Bride Of Gerald Weberg

Msgr. Matt LaViolette heard nuptial vows repeated by Dianne Koehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Koehler, 814 Superior Ave., and Gerald Weberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Weberg, Ensign, during a double ring wedding ceremony at All Saints Church, Saturday, Oct. 30, at 2 p.m.

Kathy Koehler attended her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. William Phelan and Mrs. Kenneth Koehler, both of Milwaukee, were bridesmaids. LeRoy Weberg, cousin of the bridegroom served as bestman, and Kenneth Koehler, brother of the bride, and Roger Nelson, a student at Northern Michigan University, were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Doug Koehler, of Milwaukee, and Roy Richey, of Gladstone.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was wearing a floor length "A" line silhouette gown of sea, with sculptured Venice lace accenting the empire bodice and the Kubguki sleeves. Motifs of lace were applied on the skirt front and a detachable waist train flowed from the midriff. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was held by a chignon band of pearl and she carried a crescent of white cymbidium orchids on a background of ivory.

Floor length, semi sheath gowns of pale pink crepe designed with empire bodices of shocking pink brocade with scoop necklines and elbow length sleeves. A wattleau panel descended from the neckline. Their headpieces were large petalled roses with glistening trim and a four tiered attached veil. They carried cascade bouquets of red roses surrounding a cluster of pink carnations.

Mrs. Koehler selected a blue and green brocade sheath dress with matching jacket and green and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Weberg wore a green and gold brocade sheath with gold accessories. Both mothers were presented with ivory cymbidium orchid corsages.

A reception and wedding dance were held at the Dutch Mill.

The bride is a graduate of Holy Name High School and Northern Michigan University. Mr. Weberg graduated from Rapid River High School and Northern Michigan University. He is presently teaching at Goodrich Senior High School in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, where they will make their home.

Chips And Splinters

Conservation Officer James Walker of Gladstone has been watching a lone whistling swan which has lived on Little Bay de Noc near the Log Cabin since last April or May.

The big bird, rather rare in this area, has not been seen for several days and Walker thinks (and hopes) it may have migrated south. He had observed it flying on many occasions.

Walker has speculated that the swan may be a mate of a whistling swan killed by boys in the Wells area last spring.

"It did a better job of plowing up the bottom in search for food than the mallards and blacks that stayed around it," said Walker. "The presence of the ducks feeding at its table brought it extra danger during the duck hunting season."

over the Halloween weekend, according to Police Chief George Pera. The girls will be turned over to Probate Court, Pera said.

Council Studies Functioning Of Citizen Boards

Escanaba has nine city boards, commissions or committees whose members are appointed by the City Council, and a 10th board is being organized. Citizens of the community compose their membership.

They receive no compensation other than satisfaction in public service.

The City Council last night received a report from City Manager George Harvey on an evaluation of the boards and commissions, as it had requested. The Council will begin a study of each of the groups as its time permits.

The evaluation was the result of a Council inquiry concerning a policy that members of the advisory and citizen groups should maintain a good attendance record.

Attendance Rule
To his report to the City Council, the city manager directed attention to a Council action of May 5, 1960, in which it established the policy that "any member of an appointive board or commission who fails to attend three consecutive meetings" without being excused by the chairman or secretary of the group will be removed "because of evident lack of interest."

The several groups are: Board of Electrical Examiners, Recreation Board, Board of Heating Examiners, Citizens Safety Advisory Committee, Planning Commission, Civil Service Commission, Library Board, Board of Appeals, Committee on Aging. Under organization is Commerce Committee.

City Manager Harvey in his report to the Council commented in part:

"There is no question but the work of these committees is perhaps as close to the grass roots philosophy of government as anything that is being done in local government today."

Most Helpful
"Responsibilities may range from advising the City Council on needs in certain fields to determine, for example, the extent of the use of school crossing guards under a safety program."

"Presently and in the past citizen committees have been most helpful to the Council and to the administration and therefore it is my opinion that they should be continued, perhaps reinforced, and we must now take the time to ascertain what roles the boards and committees is to fulfill, and we must outline it clearly to each committee."

The manager added that the boards and commissions should be kept fully informed and given time to "deliberate fairly and properly" on the subject before them.

At the meeting of the Council last night Glenn Moreau, mayor pro-tem, presided in the absence of Mayor George Ruseh, who is recuperating after an appendectomy in St. Francis Hospital. The mayor is feeling "quite chipper," Councilman Moreau reported.

School Meeting
Accepted the low bid of Queen City Supply Co., Marquette, to supply the Escanaba fire department with hose at a price of $947.50; and approved the quotation of the Hersey-Sparling Co. to install new meters at the water filtration plant at a cost of $1,045.

Briefly discussed the need for up-dating the city charter and asked the city manager to request former charter revision study commission members if they would consent to serve again.

Set the date of Nov. 10 at 7:30 p. m. for a meeting with school people of the community in a further discussion of a community school program.

Authorized an expenditure of $5,000 to finance construction of roadways and other needed works to bring about a better handling of traffic to the Harneisheger Corp. parking lot off the Danforth Road.

Approved increase in payment to Siller Construction, Ann Arbor, of $1,725 for extras on the trunkline sewer project south along S. 23rd St. Total contract price was $206,000, shared by federal funds.

Governors Start Viet Nam Tour Out Of Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—A delegation of 10 U.S. governors, including George Romney of Michigan, arrived in Saigon today to begin a four-day tour of Viet Nam.

The group was met at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of all American forces in Viet Nam.

The delegation, representing the National Governors' Conference, will get a close-up look at the war effort.

Before leaving Hong Kong earlier today the governors said they wanted to tell American servicemen that most people back home appreciate the job they are doing and want them to stay and see it through.

Career Choice Conference Set At Rapid River

A career opportunities seminar has been scheduled for noon to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 14, at Jack's Restaurant in Rapid River. Intermediate School Superintendent Hagle Quarnstrom of Gladstone invites all guidance and counseling personnel plus school administrators from Delta, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Marquette and Alger counties to attend the informal meeting with representatives of Michigan State University's Colleges of Education and Agriculture.

Discussing career opportunities in education generally and also information sources available at MSU will be Dr. Carl Horn of East Lansing, professor in guidance and counseling. Dr. Horn will also review transfer possibilities for students wishing to attend colleges in the Upper Peninsula and then transfer as upperclassmen or graduate students to downstate institutions.

Norman Brown, coordinator of student programs at MSU's College of Agriculture, will review career opportunities in agriculture, forestry, conservation, home economics and in the broad area of merchandising, research and services associated with agriculture.

Jim Gooch of Marquette, district coordinator for MSU's continuing education service, will outline requirements for a new 6-year specialist degree in guidance and personnel services. Most of the required course work may be completed in Extension classes taught in the Upper Peninsula.

Luncheon reservations should be made with Quarnstrom at the Intermediate School District office in Gladstone. Similar career seminars are scheduled for Rudyard on Dec. 13, Iron Mountain on Dec. 15 and Wakefield on Dec. 16.

Buck Rescued From Ledge

Pictured Rocks Deer Saved

By JAMES DRAZE

MUNISING — Four of us left here at 10 a.m. Tuesday in a speedboat on a curious rescue mission — to try to save a deer that had been stranded for several days on a rock ledge at the foot of the precipitous Pictured Rocks.

In our party were Richard and Mary Jane Hallifax, photographers, Al Rohac, a Munising motel operator who owned the boat, and myself. The Michigan Conservation Department's Patrol Boat No. 4, which had been docked in Munising, had left on the same mission earlier in the morning. Marvin Pomeroy captained the patrol boat, which also was carrying Conservation Officer Albert Latasiewicz of Munising and LaVerne Bitelman.

Noticed By Rohac

Our destination was an area near Jasper's Landing at the eastern end of the Pictured Rocks. It was there that Rohac had first noticed what appeared to be a deer on Oct. 26. He sighted the profile while trolling in Lake Superior for trout, but dismissed it as one of the many strange images that are found on the face of the Pictured Rocks.

When he fished again on Oct. 30 with his young son, Tim, however, the object proved to be a deer indeed.

Rohac notified Conservation Department officials (the deer apparently had plunged or slipped from the crest of the Pictured Rocks onto the ledge), but no rescue attempt could be made until Nov. 2 because of strong winds and rough water.

Our party covered the 14-mile distance to the rescue site in about 20 minutes. When we arrived the men on the patrol boat were attempting to chase the deer — an eight-point, 150-pound buck — to a point on the rock cliff from where it would have to swim. The strategy was to then chase the deer to an area beyond Miner's Castle, where the sheer rock ledges end and the shoreline becomes a flat and sandy beach.

Two Went Ashore
But this proved more difficult than it had seemed. We tried to force the deer into the water by approaching the spot where it stood, using the two boats from opposite directions. But the buck always managed to get away.

Latasiewicz and Bitelman then lowered the small boat carried aboard the patrol boat and went ashore of the hazardous rock cliff. With amazing skill, however, the deer scaled the slippery rocks that were almost perpendicular in some places. Although the buck slipped several times, it always managed to regain its footing and break the fall.

Finally, we succeeded in driving the deer about a quarter of a mile from where we had begun our mission of mercy. There the deer took shelter in an area where shrubbery and trees were growing out of the rocks. This gave the animal good footing, and it climbed to a considerable height on the cliff. Eventually, the buck started to scale a ledge of solid rock that rose 250 feet above Lake Superior just southwest of Miner's Castle.

When it had traveled 50 feet from the shrubbery area it lost its footing and fell on its side and slid about 175 feet down the rock ledge into the lake.

Surprising Speed

Latasiewicz and Bitelman immediately headed for the deer in their small boat, while Rohac kept the animal in close to the rocks with the faster boat.

The speed with which the deer moved through the water was surprising. Finally, we rounded Miner's Castle, where the terrain flattened out onto sandy Miner's Beach. At this point the deer turned and headed out into the

Medi-Labels For Driver Licenses

Michigan physicians on Nov. 7 will begin a new public service program of placing a medical data sticker on the drivers license of their patients.

The new drivers license, which bears a color photograph of the driver, has been designed to permit the attachment of an official medical data label—called the "Medi-Label"—on which the physician will enter any information which he feels would be of vital importance if emergency treatment was required.

Physicians will indicate such information as blood type, tetanus immunization dates, allergies, contact lenses, etc. The medical project has been approved by the secretary of state.

An initial supply of the sticker has been sent to each of the 8,000 members of the medical society.

Remember the bridge to Stonington? Well, despite appearances this weekend at the Gladstone Yacht Harbor, that bridge is still not going to be built.

Capt. George Anderson, commanding officer of Co. E, 107th Engineer Battalion, Michigan National Guard, said today the activity will be a two-day exercise for about 70 men of his bridge-building unit.

Anderson said the project will begin at 7:30 a.m. Saturday and end Sunday afternoon.

Two bays—about 30 feet—of class 60, float-type bridge will be constructed from the west bank of the yacht harbor, Anderson said. Class 60 means it will be capable of carrying 60-ton loads.

Anderson said the unit will use its new 20-ton crane in the operation and will have radios in operation and serve tactical mess on the site Saturday noon. He said the unit will also drill loading and unloading bridge-building equipment from trucks.

Straits Bridge Revenues Set October Record

Mackinac Bridge revenues for October broke all records for the month since the bridge opened, and more vehicles crossed the span than in any October since 1958, said Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority in his monthly summary of traffic and revenues.

"In spite of the unseasonably cool weather October traffic totaled 95,642 vehicles, an increase of 5.4 per cent over the 90,734 vehicles which crossed the bridge in October 1964. Revenues for this October were $422,820, or 5.8 per cent over last year's October revenues of $399,632," said Brown.

Truck traffic continued to reflect the increasing popularity of pickups and camper bodies, totaling 10,789 trucks and truck-combinations of all types this October, up 14.6 per cent from 9,416 last year.

Total traffic for the first 10 months of 1965 was 1,168,828 vehicles, a 4.4 per cent increase over the Jan. 1 - Oct. 31 total of 1,119,588 vehicles in 1964.

Revenues for the ten months were $5,098,529 this year, up 4.8 per cent from the $4,864,910 for the same 1964 period.

Group To Study Soo Tech Needs

The State Board of Education has appointed an advisory committee to study the future of the Sault Ste. Marie Branch of Michigan Technological University.

Board President Thomas J. Brennan said, "The State Board of Education is interested in having an objective, impartial assessment of the future form and function of the Sault Ste. Marie Branch as a guide for the decisions which the State Board must make in its efforts to prepare a sound plan for the development of higher education in Michigan."

Advisory committee members include: Dr. W. Clemens Anderson, Wyandotte; Alvin M. Bentley, Owosso; M. M. Chambers, Frankfort, Ky.; the Rev. D. O'Neil D'Amour, Norway; James D. Dotsch, Garden; Tom Downs, Detroit; Michael Ference Jr., Dearborn; Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, Detroit; Francis A. Kornegay, Detroit; Homer Hilton Jr., Marquette; and Dr. William Spoelhof, Grand Rapids. Mrs. Jeffrey will chair the committee.

The committee has been asked to report by January, 1966.

Powers Teachers To Meet Parents

POWERS—Classes in grades kindergarten through six in the Powers-Spalding school will be dismissed Tuesday for parent-teacher conferences, it was announced today.

Parents whose last names begin with letters A through L will meet teachers from 8:30 a.m. to noon and parents whose names begin with letters M through Z are scheduled for conferences from 1 to 4 p.m. Coffee and cookies will be served in the cafeteria.

We will never know how long the deer had been on the rock ledge before Rohac spotted it. Latasiewicz said he thought the animal was in good condition considering the ordeal it had been through. It had been cut and bruised from the rocks and was bleeding in several places on its body and legs, but apparently it will survive.

Cereal Beetles Feared In U.P.

Five years ago nobody in Michigan knew what a cereal leaf beetle looked like and cared less. This is an insect that was found in Europe but not in the United States. The St. Lawrence Seaway changed this overnight. The beetle was discovered three years ago in the southwest corner of Michigan.

Today it covers the lower third of the state despite efforts to quarantine the infested area. If it continues to spread it will cover the midwest in five years.

Control with pesticides seems questionable but scientists think they can come up with varieties of cereal grains that will resist the insect.

It will probably take seven to 10 years to overcome the cereal beetle problem. Not only time but thousands of dollars to develop the new varieties will be needed.

"No beetles have been located in the Upper Peninsula, but it can happen," says Delta Extension director J. L. Herrman. "All it takes is for some character to transport some straw up here and it could be the start."

AMUSING THIEF

The jackdraw is an amusing thief that picks up any small object that attracts it. An old story about this bird tells how one once stole a priest's ring and was cursed until he returned it.

Hospital Orders New, High-Speed X-Ray Equipment

St. Francis Hospital has placed a $43,127 order for new x-ray equipment which will cut more than a half hour off processing time and provide sharper pictures while doing it, John Haines, associate administrator, said Thursday.

The equipment, which will also require several thousand dollars worth of remodeling in the hospital's x-ray section, is expected to be installed in January.

Haines said the high-speed unit will replace the current large x-ray machine and table which was installed in 1942.

Cut Process Time

"With the new machine we will be able to get sharper pictures with only half of the x-ray exposure time to the patient," Haines said. "Processing time will be cut from about 45 minutes to seven."

Haines said the new unit will also feature a type of "automatic exposure meter" which is expected to eliminate need for any retakes once it is properly adjusted.

The order for the new equipment was placed with Pengerly X-Ray Corp., Minneapolis, Minn., and includes a Siemens

TSS three-phase generator and overhead unit with high-speed x-ray tube and starter. The order also includes new semi-automatic developing equipment.

Remodel Section

"We will still need a technician to take the plate from the machine and put it into the developer, but after that the process will be completely automatic," Haines said. "Films will be developed, dried and ready to read in seven minutes."

Haines said that to install the unit the hospital will have to spend several thousand dollars remodeling the x-ray section. That will include tearing out a ceiling and installing new, leaded walls and doors and a new technicians' booth.

Lead shielding for the walls will cost about $1,100, he said. Cost of the new equipment and remodeling will be paid for from the hospital's operating budget, he said.

Tom Stade, Gladstone's swift junior halfback, ripped off 764 yards in 144 carries this fall to lead Coach Don Pfenhauer's Braves to a 5-3-1 record. Stade scored five touchdowns on the ground, caught 11 passes for 183 yards and completed 9 of 18 tosses for 110 yards and one touchdown.

St. Ignace High School has retired the No. 21 jersey of quarterback Barry Pierson, regarded by many as the finest individual football player in the Peninsula this year. Pierson hit or 77 of 119 passes for 1,011 yards and 10 touchdowns, ran for 548 yards in 69 carries for an average of 8 yards per trip and scored 10 rushing TDs. He added three more touchdowns on punt returns and was his team's No. 1 tackler on defense.

Kingsford and Stambaugh placed four players each on the Menominee Range all-conference first team, selected by coaches at their annual fall meeting this week. Plivers honored were backs Chris Alberti and Tom Johnson, tackle Jeff Gill and guard Dave Braster. Stambaugh players honored were fullback Steve Shepich, center John Bonaglio, end Doug Peterson and guard Joe Gasperini. Rounding out the first team were quarterback Dane Domini of Iron River, the only repeater on the squad, end Jim LaRock of Iron River and tackle Jim VandenBusch of Norway.

Coach Bill Earle of Munising credits fullback Jim Stangel, pint-sized fullback, as one of the major factors in the Mustangs' drive to the Great Lakes Conference throne room this season. The 110 pound, 5 foot 7 inch senior gained 643 yards in 153 carries, scored five touchdowns and an extra point. Other standouts for the Mustangs were guard Jack Rumohr and center Tim Flynn.

Quarterback Dave Smith was the leading scorer, top rusher and best passer on Coach Tom LeQuia's Powers-Spalding football team that shared the Wolverine Conference championship with Pembine. Smith led the conference in rushing with 724 yards and scored 58 points. Mike Folcik added 55 points and Scott Riedy 51. Riedy was the top pass receiver with 255 yards to his credit and Dale Sharkey was the leading tackler with 6. Tom Ppkorn intercepted five passes in six games.

Joanne Gillis of Gladstone rattled the maples for a big 606 series in the Thursday Night league. She spilled games of 188, 201 and 217 to boost her season average to a hefty 172.

Bill Menard, former Holy Name High School athlete, was an outstanding two-way performer on the Eastern Michigan freshman football team this fall, playing halfback on offense and safety on defense. After the freshmen completed their season last week, Menard was brought up to the varsity squad at Ypsilanti.

Packers Will Face Sick Lions Sunday

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers are healthy, but Sunday's opponent, the Detroit Lions, are preparing some genuine "ills" for the rematch at Lambeau Field.

The "ills" are the Lions' Gail Cogdill and Pat Studstill. Cogdill received a swollen elbow in last Sunday's 31-7 victory over Los Angeles, but he still ranks as one of the most adept pass catchers in the National Football League.

Studstill has been a jack-of-all-trades for the Lions this year, and will replace the injured Terry Barr at flanker. Barr hurt his knee against the Rams.

Studstill is the second best punter in the NFL with a 45.5 yard average in 37 kicks. He has returned two kickoffs 48 yards, run back two punts, carried the ball from scrimmage and has snagged eight passes for 148 yards and a touchdown.

Munising Gets One First Team Choice On All-Conference

MUNISING—Although the Munising Mustangs captured the Great Lakes Conference football championship this fall, Coach Bill Earle's gridders were almost blanketed in the post-season all conference selections made by coaches here Thursday.

Munising landed one player on the all conference first team and one on the second team.

Negaunee dominated the selections with three players on the first team and two on the second team.

Coach Don Pfenhauer's Braves placed two players on the first team and two on the second team. Manistique was represented by one on the first team, two on the second.

The lone Mustang to rate first team recognition was guard Jack Rumohr while center Tim Flynn was selected to the second unit as a center.

The coaches honored Gladstone's Keith Apelgren as the top end in the conference and his team mate Tom Stade was placed in the first team backfield as a halfback. Bill Potvin, 200 pound Gladstone tackle, and quarterback Mark Goodman earned second team honors.

Joining Apelgren as first team end was tall Tom Brastley of Manistique.

Other players honored from Coach Dick Bonifas' Emeralds were guard Ed Leonard and fullback Doug Nelson who made the second team.

back Bob Phillips of Marquette. The other linemen included tackles Mike Zimmerman of Soo and Bob Tamblin of Negaunee, guard Don Bell of Soo and center Marty Hanninen of Negaunee.

Statistics Suspect In Pro Grid Clash

By United Press International
The Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles, two teams who are proving that you can't trust statistics, meet at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium in a National Football League game Sunday.

Statistically, the Browns trail the Eagles in just about every department. The Eagles have rolled up 2491 yards total offense to the Browns 2320. Cleveland has allowed 2302 yards compared to Philadelphia's 2138. But Cleveland currently sits atop the NFL's Eastern Conference with a 5-2 record while the Eagles are locked in a four-way tie for last with some of the league's lesser luminaries.

Browns' Game
The name of this game may well be Brown. Cleveland's Jimmy will be running with a vengeance after being held to 39 yards by Minnesota last week while Philadelphia's Timmy is a dangerous two-way threat — running or receiving.

Norm Snead will be back at the helm for the Eagles and that has to improve their chances. On the other hand Cleveland is riddled with injuries. Linebackers Jim Houston and Stan Scurek will definitely miss this one, as will flanker Paul Warfield. Defensive back Erich Barnes is listed as doubtful.

In other NFL games Sunday Chicago is at Baltimore, Detroit invades Green Bay, Minnesota hosts Los Angeles, St. Louis takes on Pittsburgh, Washington travels to New York and San Francisco is at Dallas.

The Chicago Bears will be out to pull off their second big win in a row as they go after the Baltimore Colts. The Bears defense was superb in stopping the Packers cold last week but will have to be even better against the high-scoring Colts. The Colts tough defense will have to cope with rookie halfback Gale Sayers, who has already advanced the ball 1,006 yards this season, while the Bears will have their hands full trying to contain Johnny Unitas. Doesn't everybody?

Barr Out
The Detroit Lions will be without the services of end Terry Barr when they take on the mighty Green Bay Packers. George Izo replaced Milt Plum last week against the Rams and got the Lions back into the win column but the Packer defense figures to be a lot tougher than anything Los Angeles could throw up. Bart Starr has been the key to the Packer attack this season and Don Chandler's toe has given Green Bay a big lift.

Fran Tarkenton leads a powerful Minnesota Viking attack against an unimpressive Los Angeles Ram team. The Rams have given up more points than any other team in the NFL and the Vikings have scored more. Dick Bass and Tommy McDonald carry the offensive load for Los Angeles and so far this season it hasn't been enough. They have a 1-6 record.

Giants Tie
The bewildering New York Giants, who on paper are about as potent as a glass of milk, host the rebounding Washington Redskins. New York has given up more points than it has scored but nevertheless is in a tie for second place in the East. Earl Morrall provides the leadership while Tucker Fredrickson and Steve Thurlow, the baby bulls, provide the power. The Redskins, after a slow start, seem to have found the right combination. Sonny Jurgensen is as good a quarterback as ever and Bobby Mitchell can hold his own with the best receivers in football.

The slumping St. Louis Cardinals host the Pittsburgh Steelers without the services of Prentice Gautt. Gautt is out for the season with a broken arm. Rookie quarterback Al Nelson has the Steelers moving again. Last week he enjoyed his biggest day, completing 18 of 35 passes for 272 yards and three TDs.

George Mira will be at quarterback when the San Francisco 49ers invade Dallas. Mira moved the team well last week against the Colts after starting quarterback John Brodie was injured. Brodie's injury isn't as serious as first thought and the eight-year-veteran may see some action this week. Don Meredith will be calling signals for the Cowboys who have dropped their last five straight.

Dad Dies, Snook Says He'll Play

CHICAGO (UPI)—Michigan State will try to clinch a share of the Big Ten title Saturday against an Iowa team led by a quarterback mourning the death of his father.

Hawkeye signal caller Gary Snook, whose season has been a bitter disappointment, said he would stay in Iowa City for the Michigan State game because he was sure his father would have wanted it that way.

"The team will be dedicated to winning for Gary and his dad and we will come up with a top performance for the game," Iowa Coach Jerry Burns said.

Snook's father, Charles H. Snook, 65, died in Seal Beach, Calif., Wednesday.

The Michigan State match at Iowa takes top billing on a full slate of Big Ten games, although the Hawkeyes were not expected to do more than cause the Spartans to breathe heavily. Michigan State, with a 7-0 record for all games compared to 1-6 for Iowa, was a three-touchdown favorite.

The Hawkeyes have lost 10 straight conference games compared to Michigan State's five straight wins over Big Ten opponents this season. Another victory for the Spartans would make their worst possible Big Ten finish 6-1 and no other school could better that. The Spartans close their conference season against Indiana Nov. 3. It will be only the fifth game in history between the Hawkeyes and the Spartans. Michigan State won the first, in 1953, but since then Iowa won three straight, including their last meeting, in 1960.

Despite the disparity in the standings, matching the Big Ten leader against the last place club, a sellout crowd of 55,000 was expected for the game, which also will be on regional television.

Ohio State and Minnesota, deadlocked for second place, were favorites over lesser rivals, each rated likely to win by two touchdowns. The Buckeyes will entertain Indiana, which earned its first Big Ten win over Iowa last week, and Minnesota will be at home against Northwestern, boasting a 2-2 record.

The other two conference games will be Wisconsin at Purdue, with the Boilermakers a 13-point favorite, and Michigan at Illinois in the annual scrap between the coaching brothers, Pete Elliott at Illinois and Bump Elliott at Michigan. The Illini were three-point favorites.

Notre Dame, ranked No. 4 nationally, will try for its sixth victory against one defeat as an 18-point favorite at Pittsburgh.

Army and Air Force, playing for the second time in Chicago's Soldier Field, were rated even.

Sports In Brief
NEW YORK (UPI)—Gene Heeter, a tight end for the New York Jets of the American Football League, will undergo knee operation Saturday at Lenox Hill Hospital. Heeter has been on the injured deferred list all season with a pulled muscle and suffered a bone chip in his right knee last Thursday.

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds have added a fourth member to the coaching staff of new Manager Don Heffner. He's 32-year-old Dave Bristol, who managed Cincinnati's San Diego farm club in 1965.

Garden Residents Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Guertin and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schlinger returned Saturday from a 6 week vacation trip to California. Points of interest enjoyed enroute were the Badlands, Mt. Rushmore, Rushmore Caves, Yellowstone National Park and the Redwoods of California. At Martinez they visited Mr. and Mrs. Royal Tallman and family, the Richard Barbeaus, Robert Tallmans and Mrs. Hattie Tallman. From Martinez they made side trips to San Francisco where they toured China Town and Fisherman's Wharf, and to Los Angeles to visit Disneyland, Marineland, and Knott's Berry Farm. They visited Oliver Guertin and family and a brother of Ed Schlinger at Ventura and Charles Schlinger at Oxnard.

A successful deep sea fishing trip was an enjoyable highlight for the men and especially for Ed Guertin who is a retired commercial fisherman. Leaving Martinez for Colorado Springs the trip took them through Reno, Salt Flats to Utah, and the Rocky Mountains. Mr. and Mrs. John Guertin and the William Bonifas family were visited at Colorado Springs and sightseeing tours were made of the Garden of Gods, Aspen and Santa's Workshop at the foot of Pike's Peak before their return home.

A Church Keeps A Community On The Land

Jam Dam Is Historic Colony

If the motorist turns south on Menominee County Road 351 between Wilson and Harris off U. S. 2-41 and drives 11 miles he comes to Jam Dam.

The road is bridged there over the Big Cedar River and from the bridge there is a view of a sharp bend in the river. This is the twist that gave the community its name — Jam Dam — because logs being driven down the river from cuttings up the stream to the mill at the mouth would jam there.

The area about Jam Dam is hilly and there are many small farms there. Amazingly, they have kept their owners when most other such farm areas in the Upper Peninsula have had their populations largely drained off to the cities by the decline of small farming.

The trend has affected Jam Dam, too, and many of the persons who live on its little farms now work in Escanaba and others are employed at the Robinson furniture factory in the community, which has helped stabilize settlement in the area with its country industry.

Church Influential

But the strongest influence in keeping its people in the Jam Dam area is the Seventh-day Adventist Church there. It has been there since deep in the last century.

Its influence is so strong that although its church was organized in the public school building at Jam Dam, it took over the schooling of the community under the sponsorship of the church and eventually acquired the public school. The few students who do not attend the church school get on a bus for the Carney School.

The Jam Dam Church is the largest rural Seventh-day Adventist Church in North America. It is larger than the Escanaba Seventh-day Adventist Church. The Escanaba Daily Press asked its able young pastor, Elder Lee Huff, to write a history of the congregation and he has supplied the following account, the first of such completeness ever gathered by the church, which has been provided with a copy of it by Mr. Huff.

By Elder Lee Huff, Pastor Wilson Seventh-day Adventist Church and School — Since 1879

The history of the Wilson Church dates back to 1879 when, under the efforts of D. T. Bordeaux in Keweenaw County, Wisconsin some of the charter members were converted and baptized. Shortly after this time five of the families moved to the Jam Dam area in Gouley Township, Menominee County, to make it their home.

They joined the church at Stephenson, but being 25 miles to travel by horse and buggy made it impossible to attend every Sabbath, so church was conducted from home to home except on special occasions when they would go on Friday and return on Sunday. Among the list of charter members we find names that are still common to this church group such as Lamsville, Wery, DeGrave, DePas and others.

In 1902 the church was organized in a public school house in ized in a public school house in church school conducted. The congregation felt the need for more space in the church so the wall was removed and the old class room became part of the sanctuary. But after a few years they again felt the need of a church school so an old public school building from Ford River was purchased and moved across the road from the church and was readied for school.

Soon this became too small so in 1950 the school building that stood across the road, the building where the group was first organized into a church, was purchased and moved next to the other one and a two-room school evolved.

Church Burns
One beautiful fall day, Oct. 20, 1948, the church burned to the ground, a scene the members will never forget. Down came the old bell, the bell that had called them to worship for so many years and had tolled the death of loved ones. But the smoke had hardly cleared away before a board meeting was called in Gouley Hall to plan for a new church. The next evening a business meeting was held and it was decided to start building at once.

Services were held in the Carney gym until the basement was ready to be occupied. By Christmas time, only two months after the old church burned, the basement was usable for services. A much larger and nicer church building arose as the members united their efforts. Funds for the new church were raised by cutting timber and selling it. Several tracts of state timber were purchased and cut, many members donated timber of their own, and it was a happy group of people who worshipped for the first time in their new Sanctuary in the early summer of 1950. There was still much work to be done and some debts to be paid but on Oct. 17, 1953 the new church was completed free of debt and was dedicated.

Cemetery Enlarged
In 1950 an acre of land was purchased that joined the cemetery, thus expanding the nearly-filled plot. A sexton was appointed at that time to see that all was kept in order.

Homes for the ministers and school teachers were hard to find in the rural setting so a parsonage was built by the Michigan Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and was made ready for use in 1961. The parsonage is located two miles north of the church. A home was purchased in Menominee in 1962 that was to become the teacher's house. The members dug a basement and prepared it for the house and then the house was moved from Menominee to the waiting basement and foundation on the corner of the Wilson Church property.

All through the years the church school was expanding and need was felt for a larger and more adequate school building. In 1963 a committee was formed to look into the possibilities of building a new school. On Feb. 16, 1964, the church in business session voted to erect a new three-room school with a gymnasium. An "Every Member Canvass" was conducted to raise the funds over a three year program, but so anxious were the members for the new school that several went to the bank and borrowed the money so construction could begin at once.

New School Building

In May of 1964 a prefabricated steel building arrived and the members again put their shoulders to the task of building. It meant a lot of hard work, some short nights and sore backs as the members donated their time as well as their money. Sept. 8, 1964 saw the doors open with 59 students from grades 1-10 filling the three classrooms.

The completed plant is valued at $90,000 and will be ready for dedication during the early part of 1966 debt free. This lovely school as well as the beautiful church stand as monuments of the dedicated support of the members of this church family.

All the members pay a tithe on their income, 10 per cent, and a two per cent for local church expense. This is in addition to the mission program which is carried on by the church organization which the members support. Last year the Wilson Church gave nearly $5,000 for the worldwide mission program. The expanding school program has taken a lot of money and to help meet the needs here besides what the members give for church school, (about $12,000 yearly) many projects have been used.

Work Projects

Bean crops have been grown and sold to the Norwag Canning Co-op, roofing bees have been organized and many roofs have been put on, timber projects, such as cutting and peeling 100 cords of pulp in one day, have been organized and carried through. When there is a need it is fulfilled somehow by the willingness to find a way.

The Wilson Church of 202 members have seen a number of their young people receive an education here and then go on to give service to other people. Clarence Berger spent 10 years as a missionary in India, returning in the fall of 1964 to become farm manager of one of the church-operated academies in Pennsylvania. Everette and Eldene Smith are now medical doctors in North Carolina. Janice Snowden is dean of girls at one of the three church-operated boarding academies here in Michigan. Fred Berger is teaching music in one of the church schools in California. Dave Knecht is teaching at a church operated academy in California. Clayton Soper finished his education and returned to this area to teach.

Thus the history of this group will be onward and upward until Jesus returns again. The desire of the Wilson SDA Church is to serve the community and to develop a people ready to meet their God.

Costly Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans spent a record sum on medical bills in 1964 and still more expenses are in sight for this year.

Jerome Pollack, associate dean of the Harvard Medical School, told the White House Conference on Health Wednesday that citizens spent $38.4 billion on health care last year — about 10 times as much as they spent 25 years ago.

Farm Bureau To Honor Little

A news director, an Extension specialist, a nationally-recognized women's program coordinator, and a farm credit leader will be recipients of its "Distinguished Service to Agriculture" awards, the Michigan Farm Bureau announced today.

The award presentations will be a highlight of the annual Farm Bureau banquet at the Lansing Civic Center, Nov. 10. The event, which is expected to attract nearly 3,000 farm leaders from throughout the state, will feature an address by Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The service awards will honor Charles Little, Extension dairy specialist in the Upper Peninsula; Mrs. Marjorie Karker, former women's coordinator for the Michigan Farm Bureau; Mark Westbrook, director of Farmers' Production Credit Association of Lansing, and Robert Runyon, news director of radio station WILS, Lansing. Runyon will be recognized for his "constant support of respect for law and order, constitutional government, responsible citizenship and the private enterprise system."

Elton Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau said as Farm Bureau celebrates its tenth anniversary in the Upper Peninsula, Michigan State University Extension dairy specialist, Charles (Jack) Little, will be honored for his years of assistance to farmers of that area.

"No small amount of credit is due Mr. Little for the agricultural progress in the Upper Peninsula," said Smith. "Were it not for the improvements in dairy, poultry and other products to which he gave support, undoubtedly the income per farm in the U.P. would be much less than it is now."

Hunters Warned On State Law On Yule Trees

Christmas trees are beginning to move south to the big cities by truck and railroad cars. For the most part the large operators know the rules governing the sale and transporting of trees. A bill of sale is required for all trees and boughs in transit.

This is to protect land owners from having trees stolen. Approved forms showing proper transaction of sale can be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, the county extension office, the Michigan Department of Conservation, the Michigan State Police and sheriff's office.

The Christmas tree law was enacted in 1962. It allows transportation of two trees without a permit in December. In any other month it is illegal to transport even one tree without permit.

The Christmas tree law does not apply to trees with roots attached. Trees with roots attached are considered nursery stock and must be inspected before movement. Hunters up from downstate often want to take little trees back to plant in their yard. This is not legal unless they are inspected and tagged. Anyone caught transporting these trees is subject to fines.

Ferris Dedicates 3 New Buildings

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Ferris State College will dedicate two new residence halls and a food center in ceremonies Sunday.

The residence halls are named in honor of two career educators, W.D. Henderson and Allen S. Putterbaugh, and will provide facilities for 500 students.

Henderson taught the first courses in pharmacy at Ferris before the turn of the century and founded the University of Michigan Extension Service. He retired in 1937.

Putterbaugh held several administrative posts at Ferris, including serving as dean of the College Preparatory Department. He died in 1963.

During the year a 3 mill request for operational millage was passed. This provides the district with an actual 2 mill addition for operation in that a 1 mill addition for operation expired during the year. Departmentalization of the upper elementary area was continued because of affirmative response to it by parents and teachers. Real appraisal of the program's justification should come this year when results can be ascertained in high school. Much sorely needed renovating was done in the old school this summer. Some badly outdated textbooks have been replaced. Spanish has been added on the upper elementary level and more time and attention is being given to remedial reading. These and other benefits accrue to the program as a result of adding an additional faculty member.
